Professionalism. Dedication. Quality.

Professionalism. Dedication. Quality.

At Keating Dental Arts, we do what it takes to be the best. There are three key concepts we used to build the core of our business: professionalism, dedication, and quality. Those concepts form the basis of every piece of work we do and every interaction with our clients. When you couple those three concepts with our unparalleled experience, open communication, and unique team-based approach, it's clear why Keating Dental Arts has become a leader in our field.

Our unmatched professionalism is not only reflected in how we conduct business in our facility, but how we treat the dentists who have chosen to work with us. We're always looking for new solutions to add value to your practice. Whether it's offering continuing education or mastering the latest dental technology, if it helps your practice, we do it.

The Consummate Professionals

That's the goal of Keating Dental Arts: to help your practice succeed. Our laboratory's reputation was built on superb customer service and our intense scrutiny of materials we use to fabricate restorations.

From our initial contact with a dentist to creating the final restoration, we want everything to be perfect, which can only be achieved through tireless efforts and a never-ending commitment to be the best. That's why we feel, when Keating Dental Arts maintains our high level of professionalism, we accomplish great things – for us and our dentist partners.

The Power of Dedication

The Power of Dedication

Keating Dental Arts works hard to be the best. That drive is in everything we do. From creating some of the best restorations possible to the way we handle your phone call, we are dedicated to being the best for our clients.

Not only do we provide the highest quality restorations possible using the most advanced systems available, but we're also dedicated to ensuring your satisfaction with the final restoration.

Because of our dedicated technicians, we give you a five-day turnaround on most cases. With a quicker turnaround, we're able to improve the final restorations' consistency of fit, making the procedure easier for you and your patients. That is the value of our dedication.

The Impact of Quality

It's important to give your patients the best. That's why Keating Dental Arts focuses on close attention to detail. We take pride in the quality of the restorations we create, and we know it will leave a lasting impression on your patients.

From the minute we receive a case – whether a porcelain laminate veneer, an implant-retained crown, a PFM, removable, or other restorative product – to the minute that case leaves our door, we guarantee our team gives it all the attention it needs. But, we never declare a case finished until the patient is satisfied.

With our state-of-the-art equipment and a devotion to learning the latest techniques, Keating Dental Arts can guarantee exceptional quality with our restorations. And, we never outsource. We feel that this allows us the greatest control over the cases you send us, letting us produce the highest, most dependable quality restorations available.

The Symbol of Experience

The Symbol of Experience

With experience comes mastery. Our laboratory has some of the most experienced technicians in the country, and each technician is a master at creating a flawless restoration. You would be hard-pressed to find a laboratory that can produce the quality we do as quickly.

Our technicians are experts in the latest technology, and we offer continuing education to dentists in our state-of-the-art operatory within our facility. By keeping up with the latest technology, we know dentists – and our laboratory – will be able to offer the patient the best options available.

When you team with Keating, you can rest assured you have a laboratory that takes great care in producing a quality restoration. With over 1,000 years of combined experience, our technicians have fabricated millions of restorations. It's true. And, each one carries the signature quality only Keating Dental Arts can produce.

The Influence of Communication

We cannot over-emphasize the importance of good communication. The foundation of strong relationships with our clients is an unbreakable dedication to an open dialogue. Because of that dedication, we take exceptional care in making sure our contacts with you are always top-notch.

We've made it our goal to reach out to each of our dentists every two weeks. We want to make sure you have everything you need and to see if we're living up to your expectations. Through frequent interactions, we can maintain an open line of communication and ensure flawless customer service. We're here for you, and we want to make sure you get what you need from our relationship.

One key to being the best dental laboratory is to always have the best customer service. And, at the basis of good customer service is great communication. Our customer service is always in sync with our clients, and, to us, clients are golden. It's that commitment to customer service that sets our laboratory apart from all of the others.

The Importance of Teamwork

The Importance of Teamwork

Many other laboratories take the approach of having one person handle a case. It may work for them, but we believe a team of technicians working on a case can create a higher quality product in much less time. That makes more sense to us.

And, our team approach doesn't only apply to the way we have our laboratory set up.

When a dentist chooses Keating Dental Arts, we become their team. Our common goal is supplying the best possible care for the patients, and we do whatever we need to ensure your patients get the best from us. That includes a no hassle remake policy that's backed by a 7-year guarantee against failure of the restoration.

With a quicker turnaround time than any other laboratory, Keating Dental Arts can guarantee a more precise fit, since there is less time for shifting. Your patients don't have to have a temporary as long, meaning they're happier. When you have happier patients, your practice succeeds.

Your Team for Making People's Smiles

Your Team for Making People's Smiles

We have found that our team-based approach works well for our laboratory. Each team consists of 11 technicians with one of them acting as the captain. Every team works together toward the common goal of success.

We extend that team-based concept to how we work with dentists, as well. We're not in charge here. You are. When you have a case, you are our captain. We respond quickly to your requests, helping you ensure your patients get the best possible care.

What it boils down to is we're not just working for you. We also work for your patients. You give your patients your utmost, and we promise you our highest level of work. We're dedicated to being the best, to provide you with unbeatable customer service, and to manufacture only the highest quality restorations.

Keating Dental Arts is a perfect combination of outstanding service and technical experience. A call to us is a call to a team of dedicated, experienced artists. Find out how Keating Dental Arts can be your team for making people's smiles. Call us today.
